

What are Serious Games?

What are Serious Games?

Funded by
the European Union

A serious game
is a specific type of game.

A serious game can be:

- a digital game used on computer or mobile phone.
- a board game.

Funded by
the European Union

Serious games
are used to learn and train.

Serious game
can improve the way people are able to think by:

- Repetition to improve memory.
- Tell out loud the history of a task and help to do the task.

Funded by
the European Union

- Interactivity_because it gives an immediate response to players.
- Create motivation and self-confidence.
- Create a simulation of day-to-day situations in real life to help learning new skills to be done in real life tasks
- Being adapted to each person needs.

Serious games have different types depending on:

- The game themes.
- The game goals.
- The type of training it is possible to make with the game.
- The players for the game.

Funded by
the European Union

The way people
with intellectual disabilities
are supported
may not be in the way
they need.

Serious games
can be a better way
to support and train.

Funded by
the European Union

Most persons
with intellectual disabilities
like to play serious games.

Playing serious games will help people with intellectual disabilities to improve their quality of life.

Funded by
the European Union

Dictionary

Find here explanations for words in bold

Digital

Electronic technology.

Memory

Being able to remember something from the past.

Funded by
the European Union

Dictionary

Find here explanations for words in bold

Interactivity

Having two people or things working together.

Simulation

An imitation.

Funded by
the European Union

Acknowledgments

This document was written with the support of the Erasmus+ funding programme under grant agreement PT01-KA204-02020-1- 78873

The European Commission's support to produce this publication does not constitute an endorsement of its contents, which reflects the views only of the authors. The Commission cannot be held responsible for any use which may be made of the information contained therein.

The contributions of the 'Development of a Training Program for the Improvement of Quality of Life of Persons with Intellectual Disabilities Through Serious Games' project partners to the creation of this document are gratefully acknowledged.

The other deliverables of the ID GAMING project can be found on the project webpage <https://id-gaming-project.eu/>

